

Zaire Asks Help From United States To Repel Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is considering a request to supply emergency military aid to Zaire, struggling to repel what it calls an invasion of mercenaries from Angola.

State Department spokesman Frederick Z. Brown confirmed on Monday that the African nation submitted the request "very recently," apparently the first such plea the Carter administration has received.

The Zaire government is struggling against invaders in its copper rich southern province, formerly known as Katanga.

Brown gave no hint of what assistance, if any, Carter was considering for Zaire, which sided with the United States during the Angolan war that ended in 1976.

It appeared the decision on the Zaire request might be weighed by the administration in relation to its potential effects on U.S. relations with Cuba. The Carter administration has been seeking to improve relations with Cuba.

Efforts to improve U.S.-Cuban relations stalled last year when Cuba sent thousands of troops to Angola during the civil war there.

Brown said the government of Mobutu Sese Seko is looking "for assistance in the form of materiel." Sources said the African nation is including on its list spare parts for C-130 air transports and helicopters already provided by the United States.

"I am not in any position to give you any kind of details on the request" made by Zaire, Brown told reporters on Monday.

The Carter administration is budgeting $32.5 million in military security assistance for the next fiscal year for Zaire. Previously the Belgian colony of the Congo, the nation achieved independence in 1960 as the third largest country in Africa.

In the last few years, Zaire has benefited from rapidly rising amounts of U.S. military aid. It received $3.8 million in aid in fiscal 1975, a figure rising to more than $30 million this year.

The Zaire government said late last week that mercenaries from Angola had attacked and occupied three cities in the southern province of Shaba, its name for the Katanga area.

In a letter to United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, Zaire claimed it was under attack "by several columns of mercenaries" and was "engaged in crushing the invader."

The government claimed later to have recaptured two of the three occupied towns, despite its urgent appeal for outside military aid.

The State Department said 15 Americans, mostly missionaries, reportedly had left Zaire through Sunday. It earlier estimated there were 20 U.S. missionaries and two Peace Corps volunteers in the nation of 2.6 million.

Alcohol Abuse Program Success

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A program that began in May 1975 to aid persons convicted of driving while intoxicated has become so successful it now has spread to 15 surrounding counties.

"The program's unique feature — caring and sharing of lives of participants — has contributed to the expansion," said Richard J. Nostrant, director of the Defensive Driving program, in a recent interview.

According to program coordinator Conrad P. Foss, expansion is directed toward the development of new programs to help other problem drinkers.

"In September and October last year, six programs were run to orient Ohio University resident directors and assistants on how to help problem drinkers in the dormitories," Foss said.

"Basically," he said, "they were taught what alcohol abuse was, how to identify the problem, and how to intervene in order to insure a long-term effect."

City Approaches County Concerning Joint Complex

Representatives of Circleville government approached county commissioners Monday concerning some type of city-county court complex.

The city delegation pointed out that a study is being made of all alternatives to provide adequate municipal court facilities and asked if the present board of commissioners was interested in a joint project of some kind.

City representatives were Municipal Court Judge O. Charles Hosterman, Tom E. Wells, council member; Joe Bell, council president. Leo Hall represented the Pickaway County Bar Assn. and Fred Weingand and John McGinnis represented the firm of Prindle, Patrick and Partners, architects.

Commissioners are L. Robert Liston, chairman; Donald Strous and Carl Schein.

In 1972 Prindle, Patrick and Partners completed a study for a city-county justice complex. The study was federally funded.

At that time the architectural firm

He says a campus referral group will soon be established to help students who think they have drinking problems to evaluate the extent of their alcohol abuse.

"Other expansions include the establishment, in March, of group aftercare services. The services will help rehabilitated problem drinkers to adjust to normal life," said Executive Director Thomas Cascarino.

"Also," he said, "an intervention service will be established in about a month's time. This new service will respond to requests from families who need help in getting a family member-alcohol abuser into a rehabilitation program."

One important aspect of the program's expansion, explained Cascarino, is that it is regionally oriented.

"We are working closely with Fairfield and Licking counties which have their own local program," he said.

Cold Front Brings Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cold front approaching the Pacific Coast has brought a few showers to the Northwest with rain, and snow at higher elevations, extending from Washington into northern California and eastward into Idaho and Montana.

A travelers' advisory for snow was in effect for the Sierra Nevada mountains of California north of Yosemite and for the Lake Tahoe basin.

Rain diminished in the Northeast with only some light scattered showers over eastern New England. Several rivers in eastern New York and southern New England remain above flood stage from rains that totaled two to three inches on Sunday and Monday.

A cold front moving across the central part of the nation produced very light showers over southwest Minnesota and eastern South Dakota. There were a few snow showers over southeastern Wyoming and north-eastern Colorado.

Skies were cloudy over the lower Mississippi Valley and along the Texas coast, but clear weather prevails across most other areas.

Temperatures at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 76 at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to five at Bozeman, Mont.

SALT Proposal Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, vowing to support human rights despite a warning that it could hurt arms talks, is sending negotiator Paul Warnke and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance to Moscow with a "fairly final" strategic arms limitation proposal.

Carter, who pledged through his spokesman not to stop his human rights activities, said at Warnke's oath-taking ceremony Monday the new director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency will accompany Vance to the Soviet Union on March 28.

Warnke took the oath of office in the White House Rose Garden. He won Senate approval as chief arms negotiator last week by a vote of 58 to 40 — less than the two thirds needed to approve any new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT).

However, the Senate voted 70 to 29 to approve him for his second job as director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Carter told the swearing-in ceremony: "I thought and I prayed a lot about who ought to be chosen. There is no doubt Paul Warnke is the best man.... It's going to take a man with a genuine desire for a reduction in weapons — which is what Paul Warnke wants."

The President said Warnke and Vance will bring the Russians "a fairly final position" on SALT. Carter said details of the position were being prepared by the National Security Council. Vance will meet with Carter later this week for final instructions.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said Sunday that Carter's support for human rights could damage the atmosphere surrounding any future SALT talks. The protest was the latest against Carter's support for Soviet dissidents and human rights.

Asked about the Pravda statement, White House Press Secretary Jody Powell declared: "I think our position on human rights is clear, and we will continue, as we said at the outset, to act according to our best judgment in

Deputies Seek Job Benefits

Members of the Pickaway County Sheriff's staff Monday presented a letter to the Pickaway County Commissioners requesting a 40-hour week, higher pay, a merit promotion program and an insurance program.

In the letter, the staff members stated that if the county cannot pay overtime then deputies should not be expected nor requested to work in excess of an 8-hour day or a 40-hour shift.

They also stated they received a five per cent pay increase in 1977 when they felt a 10 per cent increase would have been more equitable.

The letter said the merit promotion program was of extreme importance. "We strongly urge you to provide a merit promotion program coupled with a longevity pay system to retain trained men and provide them with something to work for in a career," the letter said, pointing out that very recently an officer resigned because he felt the opportunity for advancement did not exist.

The members of the staff also noted that Pickaway County is one of the very few places where the employee's share of hospitalization is not paid. They also felt that liability insurance is a necessity to protect the county and the deputies against claims which may result "through our errors or accidents occurring while acting within the scope of our authority."

Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff strongly urged commissioners to take favorable action on the requests of his staff members.

"We have very recently had the resignation of one deputy to take a position in private business because he feels the fringe benefits, job protection and opportunity in the department are inadequate," Radcliff stated.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal, whose salary is paid by contract with the Circleville Twp., said the trustees had authorized a salary increase and paid health and liability insurance for him. But he said it would not be fair for him to accept the benefits authorized by the trustees if the other members of the department did not receive equal treatment from the commissioners.

Meeting with commissioners L. Robert Liston, Donald E. Strous and Carl E. Schein were Sheriff Radcliff, deputies Bill Dountz, Donald G. Thompson, Timothy Hasselbring and James C. Deal.

Commissioners said that the 1977 budget is completed and the money to meet the requests of the department might not be available. However, they promised to give deputies an answer by next Monday.

support of this end."

Powell added that "preparations are going forward without any delay for the Vance trip." The press secretary said anew that the administration does not link human rights or support for Russian dissidents with the strategic arms talks.

In other developments:

—Economic adviser Charles L. Schultze relinquished his position as co-chairman of the Economic Policy Group. Powell said Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal would become the sole chairman of the group, which is the conduit for policy options going to Carter.

—The administration widened its search for candidates to head the embattled Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. University of Wisconsin law professor Jim Jones has turned the job down. "A very intensive, across-the-board search is underway," an aide said.

—Declaring "no end in sight" to drug abuse, Carter established an office of Drug Abuse Policy and charged it with recommending improvements in federal drug abuse prevention and control. The President named special assistant Peter G. Bourne director.

his apprentice at the society and presently holds the position. Bokenkamp has his own forge business in Powell. The gate weighs about 200 pounds, while the overthrow, which they are measuring, weighs in at about 100 pounds. Bokenkamp said the gate took him about three weeks to make. The main problem he had was cutting and installing the top hat, clarinet and courthouse because they aren't normal wrought iron designs. The gate is located between the buildings in the alley of the parking lot on W. Franklin Street.

Secret Teamsters Data Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wary Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall says he will tell a House subcommittee behind closed doors what's going on in the government's probe of a scandal-ridden Teamster pension fund.

At public hearings Monday panel members bristled at their inability to get an open accounting of the 18-month investigation of alleged ties with organized crime and questionable loan practices by the Central States, Southeast and Southwest Pension Fund.

An aide to Marshall said the secretary didn't want to testify in open hearings because of the probe and possible future court action.

Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Tex., ranking majority member on the House Ways and Means oversight subcommittee, charged that Marshall's decision "makes a mockery of the open and responsive government which is the foundation of the promise of the Carter administration."

The subcommittee planned to hear today from a panel of pension experts and Internal Revenue Service officials before meeting with Marshall and Justice Department representatives.

Chairman Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., said he would explain to Marshall that he "can't guarantee executive (secret) sessions to anybody," under House rules. Panel members could vote for a closed session but Gibbons said he will let Marshall "take whatever chances he wants to take."

The hearings are probing the conduct of the departments of Labor, Justice and the IRS in their joint investigation of the Central States Fund, one of the nation's biggest private pension funds with assets of $1.4 billion.

The Labor Department announced Sunday that Teamsters' President Frank Fitzsimmons and three other officials have agreed to resign as trustees of the fund and relinquish control to outside experts.

The action is expected to avoid a government lawsuit against the trustees and assure the fund's tax-exempt status.

Daniel J. Shannon, the fund's executive director, told the congressional panel that once the agreement is carried out, "the trustees that remain will have no input at all over the assets."

He defended the fund's earning record since becoming its administrator in 1973 but said it could be short by about $3 billion to $4 billion in long-term benefit commitments if it were to shut down today with no further income.

A revised pension plan that is awaiting IRS approval will enable the fund to become financially sound but will cost employers at least $6 more per employee per week, Shannon said.

Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., pressed Shannon to explain why the trustees agreed to quit if they didn't think the fund was guilty of wrongdoing. "Why didn't the Teamsters feel they could tell the government to go to hell?" he asked.

"There was much discussion on that very point," said Shannon. "In some meetings, that very statement was stated."

He added that although the government never gave specific reasons why Fitzsimmons and the others should quit, they individually decided to do so for the good of the fund and its members.

Job Plan Readied For Probationers

Youthful probationers will be offered jobs under a federally-subsidized pilot program geared at opening the door to careers for them.

$19,638 operating grant from Title I of CETA Special Projects.

Emphasis of the program is to place the youngsters in vocational training programs, to encourage them to seek unsubsidized employment, or to convince them to finish their educational requirements.

To qualify for the program, the youths must be on probation and residents of Pickaway County between the ages of 14 and 18. Their families must meet federal low income guidelines.

Youths are referred to the program by the Pickaway County Probation Department, Muck said.

They will be placed in public service jobs for non-profit organizations, and hopefully, the individual jobs will be geared to the type of people in the

Helmut Berger Hospitalized

ROME (AP) — Austrian movie actor Helmut Berger has been hospitalized after drinking a large quantity of liquor and taking some medical pills, police said.

Officers said physicians who examined the actor told them the liquor and pills were responsible for Berger's agitated state after being brought to a hospital Monday by ambulance.

The doctors said Berger should recover in about a week.

Berger starred in several films directed by the by the late Italian director Luchino Visconti, including "The Damned," "Ludwig" and "Family Portrait."

In a recent interview Berger said Visconti's death last year was a severe blow for him.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Following through on Monday afternoon's rally, the stock market opened higher today. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gained about two points in the early going. Advances outnumbered declines by a wide margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Analysts were watching today to see if the market could attract heavy trading to sustain a rally. The government's report on February industrial production, scheduled to be released today, could help investor confidence, analysts said, if it shows the recovery they are expecting. On Monday, the Dow Jones average, sluggish at the start of the session, recorded its biggest gain of the year, up 10.64 points to 958.36. This was the first time the Dow broke the 10-point mark since Dec. 27 when it climbed 10.47. Advances outnumbered declines by about 9-5 on the NYSE. Big Board volume reached 19.29 million shares, ahead of the 18.23 million Friday. The NYSE's composite index gained .38 to 55.10. On the American Stock Exchange, however, the market value index dropped .03 to 111.61.

Buzzards Return To Hinckley Roosts

HINCKLEY, Ohio (AP) — Designated buzzard spotter John Lutz was up before dawn today, scanning the skies eagerly for a glimpse of the soaring black speck that officially meant the turkey buzzards had come home again to Hinckley. He saw three, the first of them at 7:09:43—uncommonly early, he said, since they usually wait till the sun's well up to leave their roost in the trees near their rocky and rugged nesting grounds. Sunrise today was 6:40 a.m. EST. And in nearby Cleveland, the ornithologist who heads the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, Harold Mahan, was unworried. "They should be on time," Mahan said, explaining that, actually, they began arriving one or two at a time from late February onward, though the traditional date is March 15. He also explained that the first of the

Mrs. Gandhi's Son Escapes Assassination

NEW DELHI, (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's controversial son Sanjay escaped unharmed when shots were reported fired at his jeep at the close of his first campaign for a seat in the Indian parliament. "I don't know if they were trying to kill me or scare me," said 30-year-old Sanjay, who took over the youth wing of his mother's Congress party during the state of emergency she ordered 20 months ago. Opponents of Mrs. Gandhi charge that he is being groomed to succeed her, continuing the family hold on power begun 30 years ago by her father, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. Voting in India's first parliamentary election since 1971 begins Wednesday and ends Sunday. Most neutral observers thought the challenge by Mrs. Gandhi's opponents was too strong for them to predict whether she would extend her 11-year hold on the reins of government. The national news agency Samachar said five shots were fired at Sanjay Gandhi's jeep Monday night from a jeep that waited around a bend in the road for him in the rural district of Amethi, where he was campaigning 300 miles southeast of New Delhi. The report said Sanjay's bodyguard fired back, but the attackers escaped in the dark.

Horse Card Costs Job

CLEVELAND (AP) — Harry Horton says he regrets having sent his bosses a picture of the backside of a horse. But he still doesn't understand why they fired him. Actually, it was a picture of a colt with a purple butterfly sitting on the colt's rump. Horton, 28, recently wrote to his superiors at the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, asking them if he could work as a fulltime clerk instead of parttime. He wrote his request on a card with the colt illustration. "It was a poor choice of stationery," said George R. Schoeffel, Cleveland district sales supervisor for the liquor department. Schoeffel also chided Horton for sending the card to the department's headquarters in Columbus instead of to the district office here. Horton explained that the stationary was from a set he bought from his niece who was selling them for a school fundraising project. "People buy posters like this for their houses and everything," Horton said. "I just don't understand ... If I had known that (the card would be insulting), I would never have sent the card."

scavenger birds probably wouldn't stay here anyway but rather would travel on further northward, perhaps to Michigan or to the northeast, to set up their nests. The later arrivals will be the ones that make their homes on nearby Whipples Ledges, Mahan said. For skeptics, he offered assurance that "this is an event which does have a scientific basis...It does herald the spring as much as the return of robins. "But you could do the same thing with a lot of other kinds of birds for other places," Mahan added. "You could have the return of sparrows to Cleveland, for instance." The scavengers, their bald heads sharply red at this time of year, actually are vultures named for a vague resemblance to turkeys, Mahan said. He called them "first cousins" to eagles and hawks and said they rely on their "amazing eyesight" to locate the dead animals on which they feed. "They have virtually no sense of smell — which you would agree, is a good thing for them if you were around their nesting or feeding area," he added with a chuckle.

program, he said. Wages will be minimum for the year-around employment. Students will be permitted to work about 15 hours a week, while youngsters no longer in school will be permitted about 30 hours. Muck hopes to service at least 10 youngsters during the first year of the program, and hopefully more. He estimates there are about 200 youths on probation in the county. Individual counseling will also be provided. Youths who are interested should contact their probation officer, Muck said. Public service agencies who would like to participate should contact Muck. The 21-year-old Lexington, Ky., native is working parttime with PICCA while obtaining a degree in Christian Ministry from the Circleville Bible College. The second-semester sophomore attended the University of Kentucky for two years, majoring in psychology. He and his wife Bonnie live on the Bible College campus. He has worked with similar programs. Muck was supervisor of a youth care center in Lexington for youngsters up to 18 years of age who had been detained by the courts awaiting trials, and he also worked in a Police Department youth camp during the summer as a counselor.

Feeling Alienated? Jimmy Wants You

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alienated? Got the blue-collar blues? Fed up with the government? Well, Jimmy Carter may have a mission for you. The President wants to put the disenchanting on some of the boards and commissions that offer the government advice on such issues as low-income housing, trading commodity futures and rural telephone service. "Just because you work for a living does not mean you shouldn't be heard," said Jim King, director of the White House personnel office. King said that in the next six months, after he completes the Carter administration's talent hunt for new managers for the federal bureaucracy, he wants to tap working men and women on assembly lines, at construction sites or perhaps behind the wheel of a taxicab for the advisory boards and commissions. Carter promised as much during his campaign, said King. "I'm taking him at his word. He's aware of what I'm planning to do and he doesn't have any reservations about it. It's making government accessible," said King. "What I'd like to do is hit some of the people who feel most alienated from government." Many of these boards are filled with high-paid business executives whose companies are willing to pay them when they take off to attend meetings in Washington periodically, King observed. "We could approach a company and say we want your $500-a-day consultant and nobody would blink. But we can't get a $50-a-day worker," King lamented. Among the problems he must solve before putting the plan into effect will be how to pay the new board members for their time and for their travel expenses, King noted. The future of some commissions actually is in doubt because Carter has asked his Cabinet members to see which can be eliminated or curtailed. But many boards are likely to survive the weeding out. King, a Bostonian who recalls fondly time spent in taverns drinking beer and listening to just the sort of people he would like to see on the panels, observed: "There's a hell of a talent bank that people don't hear."

PPG Manager Urges Defeat Of Common Situs Bill

James M. Butler, manager of PPG Industries' Circleville resins manufacturing facility, has urged the area's U.S. Congressmen to oppose a bill that would allow a single striking union to shut down an entire building site. He said the bill would spark inflation and boost unemployment.

"The so-called common situs picketing bill would increase costs for new homes and other buildings, and could boost unemployment in the already depressed construction industry," Butler stated. He said he has expressed his concern to Rep. William H. Harsha (R-6th Dist.) and the state's U.S. Senators, John H. Glenn (D) and Howard Metzenbaum (D).

"Consumers who are concerned with rising buildings costs should let their Congressmen know now they are opposed to the bill," Butler said. He pointed out that costs of public buildings such as schools, hospitals and government offices also will be increased under the proposed legislation.

If enacted, the proposed common situs picketing bill would allow members of one trade union to induce uninvolved tradesmen to stop work on a building construction site. Electricians, for example, could secure work stoppages by painters, plumbers and glaziers who were not parties to the labor dispute.

"Since the plumbing contractor obviously has no power to resolve a labor dispute between electricians and the electrical contractor, it is difficult to see how this legislation could do anything but harm to the construction industry," Butler said.

"The scope of the legislation also could result in a complete shutdown of numerous building or other construction sites in the same area," Butler warned. "For example, a labor dispute involving a contractor having crews working on several sites could result in work stoppages on all of these buildings."

The PPG manager said "passage of common situs legislation can only result in more work stoppages, higher unemployment and increasing costs for residential, commercial and government construction projects."

Bootleg Cigarettes Problem For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The taxman's nightmare, cigarette bootlegging, is prospering in Ohio, mainly because of an almost invisible activity of organized crime it is difficult to police, the state's tax commissioner says.

Gov. James A. Rhodes estimates that Ohio loses $22 million a year in tax revenue to smugglers and dealers who bring untaxed cigarettes into northern urban areas from Kentucky, Virginia and North Carolina.

The state gets 15 cents a pack from legal sales.

Dealers sometimes make purchases of up to $25,000, employ several tiers of "runners" and utilize counterfeit tax stamps, according to Tax Commissioner Edgar Lindley.

These sophisticated operations have all the earmarks of crime syndicate involvement, Lindley says, adding that most of the activity is in northern Ohio cities.

Ohio law enforcement officials cooperate in exchanging information with the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, but unless interstate theft is involved, federal agents have no enforcement authority.

Under current law, no more than $60 worth of cigarettes can be brought into the state untaxed, but given varying prices for smokes that standard is difficult to enforce.

A bill proposed by Rhodes and awaiting introduction in the House would permit state tax agents to confiscate any vehicle carrying more than 25 cartons (5,000) cigarettes. Transporting even as many as 10 cartons would be illegal.

The legislation toughens penalties for bootlegging and tax stamp counterfeiting and raises authorized rewards to informants by 10 per cent.

It provides for revocation of a dealer's license for felony convictions in connection with bootlegging and permits the Board of Liquor Control to take permits away from establishments selling untaxed cigarettes.

All of this will help, Lindley says, but the big push must come from Washington where Congress is considering legislation to increase federal authority to deal with bootleggers.

Artificial Heart Being Readied

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the heart beats of a small herd of calves scattered in research institutions across the country rest the hopes of a $100 million program to build a device that can take over when the human heart fails.

In the calves, at Boston Children's Hospital Center and elsewhere, the heart beats already are produced by an artificial heart. It's still a long distance from calf to human, but it's narrowing.

Some medical scientists long have held that the best way to replace a hopelessly damaged heart would be through a mechanical device rather than heart transplant. But so far, artificial hearts have worked only in calves, up to four months, while some transplants have done much better in human patients.

Still, after years of toil, with more than $100 million spent over the past decade and $13 million more to be spent this year, scientists are guardedly optimistic. Some believe a completely artificial heart is less than a generation away.

"I won't name any date, but I think it will be in our lifetime," says Dr.

on developing a "left ventricle assist device," or LVAD, according to Dr. Peter L. Frommer, the institute's associate director of cardiology.

The heart is divided into two main pumping chambers called ventricles. The right ventricle pumps blood into the lungs to pick up oxygen. The left pumps the oxygenated blood through the arteries to the body.

The left chamber does four-fifths of the heart's work and is damaged most often in heart attacks.

Frommer says an LVAD could temporarily take the pumping load off a damaged left ventricle to allow it to heal. If the chamber is hopelessly impaired, a long-term LVAD might give permanent assistance or take over the ventricle's task completely.

Knights Plan Fund Drive For Mentally Retarded

The Ohio Knights of Columbus, at their January meeting in Perrysburg, announced the second annual drive for Mentally Retarded Citizens of Ohio. Co-chairmen Phillip Carasi of Girard and James Oberhauser of Toledo have set a goal of $300,000, nearly doubling the 1976 receipts of $160,000.

The drive will see members of the Knights of Columbus, assisted by the Ohio Association of Retarded Citizens, and their friends, collecting money on street corners, shopping centers, stores, banks, on April 21, 22, 23, 1977. Each donor will receive a 12 inch metal ruler with the campaign slogan, "How do you measure up?" printed on it.

It is expected that all 275 local Ohio Councils Knights of Columbus with their 62,000 plus members, will make an all out effort to attain their goal.

A Page Of Opinion

Dangerous Lapse

Few members of the medical team which recommended the swine flu vaccination program have given any indication they would recommend differently, given the same set of circumstances and despite the troubles which phased out the program long before it had reached its original goal.

But some fears have been expressed that the wide publicity surrounding the side effects suffered by a small number of vaccine recipients could harm other vaccine programs. Long before the swine flu scare, common vaccine protection against other communicable diseases had been on the decline.

Between 1963 and 1973, the number of American children aged 1 to 4 years who had received polio vaccine fell from 85 per cent of the total to 60 per cent. That decline since has been stabilized, but readily available protection against other communicable diseases is not as widely used as it should be. There are too many medical mysteries still to be solved without ignoring the cures and controls which are available.

The Bible On Film

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK — The Bible, which is alternately known as The Good Book and The Book of Books, is a staple in most homes. It is the best-selling book of all time, the original "Roots" of mankind.

Yet how many Americans have read it from beginning to end?

Not as many, one guesses, as have seen "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" on a single Saturday night. For this is the age of pictures; the majority will skip the book and wait for the movie.

That's why "The New Media Bible" came into being. "The New Media Bible" is a monumental project - the authentic translation of the Scriptures into the modern media of motion pictures.

Filed in Israel by professionals, and funded initially by British, Canadian and American businessmen, the complete Bible will take 30 years and at least 250 million dollars to complete. The first 10 "installments," covering the beginnings of the Book of Genesis and The Gospel According to St. Luke, are completed and have been judged, by some of the theologians who have seen them, to be superb. They are, indeed. From the creation through Adam and Eve, Cain and Abel, Noah, Abraham, the Annunciation and the Nativity - all are beautifully photographed and interpreted by Israeli actors (unknowns except for the star, Topol, who plays Abraham). The 10 segments already finished, each about 20 minutes in length, and available in three different translations, are narrated by a trio of famous voices: Alexander Scourby interprets the King James version, Orson Welles intones the Revised Standard, and Jose Ferrer the New American.

"The New Media Bible" is such a departure that it is being called the first major transformation of the Bible in over 500 years - since Johann Gutenberg set the first Bible in movable type in 1453.

There is no way of seeing it in a movie theater. The episodes - ten of which are to be filmed each year until completion around 2007 A.D. - are being sold to churches, libraries, schools, prisons, individuals, whoever and whatever institution wants to own them. They are available in 16mm and 8mm films or video cassettes, and are accompanied by film strips with taped narration for each episode, a teacher's guide, handsome magazines called the New Media Bible times and other teaching materials to help instructors, priests and ministers expand on the movie message. Cost of each package of 10 movies, plus interpretive materials, is $2,000. Not inexpensive - but some 500 churches and other institutions already have found the investment worthwhile. "The churches today have a population problem," explains Rex Berry, communications director for New Media Bible, "and they're finding it necessary to be as competitive as rivalry for membership with other churches. Some ministers who have bought our Bible have written us that showings of the films have been a splendid device for attracting new members."

Two weeks ago the U.S. Navy showed the first 10 segments of the New Media Bible to 5,000 midshipmen aboard the carrier S.S. America; enthusiasm was so great that 70 sets have been sent to chaplains at Naval bases around the globe. British actor Richard Harris ordered a set for himself. Not because he's a religious man, but because "the Bible is a jolly good story."

The project started when film producer John Heyman, 43, conceived the idea six years ago. Another not especially religious man, Heyman graduated in law from Oxford, then produced such award-winning movies as "The Go-Between" and "The Hireling." In 1974, after much research, he formed "The Genesis Project" - a publishing corporation to handle The New Media Bible, and persuaded 18 hard-headed businessmen to join him in putting up $5.5 million to commence the filming. He specifically avoided church-trenched contributors, feeling that "If you get one cent from a high powered religious donor, you're going to lose denominational objectivity." He wanted no doctrinal axes being ground. Historians and theological scholars from all religious denominations were hired to act as consultants "to guarantee we would be historically, archeologically and Biblically authentic."

Nothing got by the scholars. One day during filming of the Cain and Abel sequence, it rained on the plains of Israel; Heyman shot the scenes. That night at the conference, a scholar said, "You must destroy today's film."

"Why?" Heyman asked.

"Because it didn't rain in Cain and Abel."

"How do you know?"

"It doesn't say it rained in the Bible."

"It mentions thunder and lightning," Heyman pleaded.

"It doesn't say rain in the Bible until Noah," the theologian said flatly.

They reshot the scenes on the next thunder-lightning-ing, nonraining day.

Heyman hopes his filmed Bible will, like other good movies, encourage viewers to say, "Hey, that's exciting. I think I'll read the book..."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The IBM shopping spree in the stock market has left its shareholders about $2 billion richer than they were on February 22, an amount that should make them reasonably happy.

This is but one consequence of the decision by the big computer maker to invest in itself — an "attractive investment," it said at the time — even while some analysts were suggesting it might be overpriced.

There are many other consequences too, and lessons to be learned also, most obvious being the lesson that money talks. IBM had more than $6 billion of liquid funds, $1.54 billion of them available to buy its stock.

At the time it made its decision to buy up to 5.5 million of its shares at $280, versus a market price at the time of $270.125 a share, there was said to be a large overhang of stock for sale.

The word around the Street was that many of the big institutions, the mutual and pension funds among them, felt they owned too much of IBM. They wanted to sell, it was said.

At any rate, the shares of International Business Machines seemed to have stalled in the $270 area. When the price would edge a bit higher, the sellers would appear, and down it would go again.

With all that cash available, and believing that its shares not only were worth $270 but a lot more, the company made its offer of $280 a share for up to 5.5 million shares. It would eliminate the overhang.

The results were a bit surprising. Almost immediately some of the portfolio managers who had been bearish became less certain of their identity. Soon they were pawing the ground; they had become bulls.

If IBM is willing to buy at $280, they reasoned, then it must believe its shares are worth a lot more than that, perhaps $300 or more. And who should know better than IBM, which has that prized commodity, inside information?

The shares, which began rising immediately after the release of the news, approached and even exceeded the $280 mark when the tender offer was scheduled to expire March 8. Then IBM extended the offer two more days.

When the extension ended, the company still had sopped up only 2,546,000 shares, far short of its minimum goal of at least 4 million shares, and less than one-half the 5.5 million it reserved the right to buy.

With the offer closed, shares continued to rise, reaching $284.50 at the completion of trading Thursday. They fell a bit on Friday, finishing the week at $283.25.

In the thinking of many analysts, $280 is now the base for IBM shares. Rather than this being an upper limit, a sell price, as many investors seemed to think a few weeks ago, it is now felt to be an area of support, a price at which to buy.

This isn't to say it will remain that, because market psychology is ever changing. But at about $2 billion more than on Feb. 22, IBM shares look a lot healthier and promising.

Remarkable what money can accomplish.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My mother died after a long, complicated illness. The doctors and the nurses at the hospital could not possibly have been any kinder while she was there.

One of the doctors, who was particularly devoted to my mother, asked permission for an autopsy. We granted it. Now, after one month, we have not gotten any report. Worse than that, there is underlying anger between some members of the family because we gave permission.

Standard Oil Air Plan Rejected

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State and local air pollution officials have rejected compromise measures proposed by Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) in support of its application to build a terminal in the port of Long Beach to handle Alaskan oil.

"I don't view that as a serious proposal," said Tom Quinn, chairman of the California Air Resources Board.

The Sohio proposal calls for the company to finance installation of emission control devices at area industrial plants and the paving of streets and parking lots, as steps to offset anticipated emissions from the new, 700,000-barrels-a-day oil facility.

Sohio officials also proposed imposing fines of up to $25,000 on tankers that violate pollution regulations within an area south from Point Mugu and within 12 miles of the coastline as well as in the Port of Long Beach itself.

But, J.A. Stuart, executive officer of the South Coast Air Quality Management District, criticizing the Sohio proposal, said: "I don't think the tradeoffs they've proposed are adequate."

Stuart said he had conveyed this reaction to Sohio officials in a letter last week.

State pollution officials noted the emission-reducing proposals made by Sohio would become mandatory under new regulations they expect the Coast Guard to issue soon.

"It is not legally possible to consider and take credit for reductions which will occur regardless of whether the project is built," Quinn said in his letter to Sohio president Fred G. Garibaldi.

especially in a case that is not completely clear, may shed light and bring valuable information for the prevention of disease in the rest of the family.

Many of the autopsy findings have brought medicine to its present peak of increasing the life span to almost 75 years. There is, even at this time of sorrow, satisfaction in the knowledge that somewhere, some place, another human being may be spared or benefited by your important decision. With your permission you helped contribute to medical advances.

You can be sure that the report will be made available to your doctor as soon as it is ready. The microscopic work in chemical analysis is enormous. Be patient.

In order to prevent any expansion of anger or hostility within the family, those with opposing views should openly discuss the matter with your doctor or with your religious advisor.

You will be amazed to know that only in rare instances is permission to perform an autopsy contrary to the dictates of most religions.

Are there any special diseases that should keep passengers from flying?
Mr. A.M., Calif.

Dear Mr. M.:
Chronic lung conditions, such as active tuberculosis and severe emphysema, or marked anemia, pregnancy past the eighth month, acute infection of the sinuses, a severe cold and infection of the ears and some heart conditions may make flying inadvisable.

Yet there is no single rule that can apply to everyone. Flying in commercial planes these days gives security that there will be no changes in the pressurization of the cabin. Consequently, many doctors are more lenient with permission than they would be if their patient were flying in a non-pressurized private plane.

Los Angeles Style

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An exhibition of women's dress in Los Angeles, "Instantly Fashionable," is on display at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art through April 3.

The exhibit of approximately 40 garments dates from 1820 through the late 1940. Early dresses show Mexican-Spanish influence. Fashions from the 1880s onward tended to be more international, but by the 1930s and '40s Los Angeles began making its own fashion dictates to accommodate the lifestyle of the city.

The exhibition is accompanied by a selection of photographs of Los Angeles residents from the late 1880s to the 1940s.

The Ohio grant is part of $64.4 million granted nationwide.

In addition to job and classroom training, the program could provide emergency food and medical care, child care and legal aid.

FIRE VAN—Fireman Ron Arledge left, and Lt. Chet Echard, right, of the Circleville Fire Department, showed the department's new Chevrolet van that arrived last week. The newest piece of equipment will be outfitted for duty in the near future. According to Fire Chief Mike Brown, the van will be primarily a rescue and heavy equipment vehicle. It will house power saws, drills, and jacks for vehicle crash rescues, and will also carry a large portable electric generator for use at emergency scenes. Another item on the van will be several large containers of compressed air that will be used to refill the fire fighters' airpicks if they are in heavy use at an emergency. The van will also house several other miscellaneous pieces of equipment and spare parts.

Grain Loan Inventories Level Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The amount of grain farmers have tied up in the government's price support loan program is starting to level off after increasing sharply last fall, according to the Agriculture Department.

As of Feb. 28, about 285 million bushels of wheat were under loan, the department said Monday. Although that was nine times the 31.5 million bushels in the program a year ago, it was only 21 million bushels more than were under loan at the end of January.

Last November, after the loan rates were increased, farmers put about 65 million bushels into the program during the month. Another 57 million were added in December and around 43 million more in January.

Looking at it another way, about 13 per cent of last year's record wheat crop of more than 2.1 billion bushels was tied up in the loan program at the end of February. As long as grain is under loan, it cannot be sold.

The program enables farmers to get loans from USDA with their crops as collateral. Normally, when the market prices are higher than the loan rates, farmers eventually repay the loans and then are able to sell their crops for cash.

On the other hand, if cash prices fall below the loan rates, farmers do not repay the loans and the government winds up owning the commodities. In this case, the farmer's loan obligation is canceled.

Corn under loans as of Feb. 28 totaled 227.1 million bushels, nearly double the 120.1 million of a year ago. That was equal to less than 4 per cent of last year's record harvest of 6.2 billion bushels.

The report showed that farmers increased the amount of corn under loan by only about 1.4 million bushels.

Support loans for wheat are $2.25 a bushel and corn $1.31 for corn, according to USDA. A year ago those were $3.66 and $2.48 a bushel, respectively.

Soybeans under loan on Feb. 28 totaled about 9.9 million bushels against none a year earlier. One reason for the increase is that some farmers may be counting on soybean prices to skyrocket because of the current small reserves. In that case they can pay off the loan and sell their beans.

The soybean loan rate is $2.50 a bushel, compared with a mid-February average farm price of $6.99 a bushel. A year ago soybeans were $4.50 a bushel.

Friday. We hope to get some more today, but it is getting harder to get," said Atlanta supermarket manager James Allen McDonald.

At two New York City supermarkets, shoppers jammed aisles where the artificial sweeteners are stocked.

"I'm not going to buy out the store, but I will buy more than usual," said Illene Davidson as she picked up four large packages of Sweet 'n Low, a sugar substitute, explaining that she normally buys only two at a time.

The Food and Drug Administration last week announced plans to prohibit the general sale of saccharin after tests indicated large doses of the sweetener caused cancer in rats.

The FDA said it would be at least July before the necessary administrative steps could be completed for a permanent ban on saccharin.

Sweet 'n Low is the nation's largest selling artificial sweetener. Ira Eisenstadt, vice president of Cumberland Packing Corp. of New York, which produces Sweet 'n Low, said last week his plants might have to close because of the proposed saccharin ban.

On Monday, however, he said the firm's three plants were going on 20-hour work days to try to keep up with orders. "I dare say we've gotten rid of a two-month supply in two days," Eisenstadt said.

Saccharin Buyers Start Stocking Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Artificial sweeteners and low-calorie soft drinks are vanishing from grocery store shelves as diet-conscious shoppers stock up in the face of a government warning that saccharin may cause cancer.

"No one's asking questions. They are just buying," said Jerome Webb, the manager of a grocery store in Cambridge, Mass. He reported sales of diet sodas were about one-third higher than normal.

In New York, Seattle and Atlanta, supermarkets reported heavy runs on artificial sweeteners and higher than normal sales of diet sodas.

"All our saccharin and artificial sweetener is gone. We ran out last

Martin Essex Busy As Retirement Here

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Supt. of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex might have been able to slowly wind down his decade-long career as Ohio's chief state school officer — if it hadn't been for the energy crisis.

On Monday with only one day left on the job, Essex, 68, said that he has been so busy trying to resolve problems caused by the energy shortage that he has not had time to think about what he will do in retirement.

"I suppose I will give it some thought Tuesday night or Wednesday morning," Essex said. "I have several options but haven't reached any decision on what I will do."

"Things keep building up here," he said, in reference to his duties as school administrator. "I've been concerned about getting things finished."

Essex' successor is deputy superintendent Franklin B. Walter.

Walter, 47, assumes the $50,000-a-year chief state school officer's post on Wednesday.

The bitter cold experienced in Ohio during January and February caused an unprecedented mass closing of schools for weather-related reasons and because of energy shortages. School officials are still negotiating the number of days they will be forced to make up because of the closings.

Essex also has been embroiled in litigation of a magnitude never experienced by any of his predecessors. His retirement relieves him of responsibility in more than 30 lawsuits pending against the Ohio Department of Education with him named as defendant.

Most recent was a decision by U.S. District Court Judge Robert Duncan finding the state superintendent partially responsible for the illegal segregation of the Columbus public schools.

When he announced on Dec. 31 that he would retire, Essex said "to opt for a time without issues needing resolution is to ask for that which has never been and never will be."

Monday he said, "If I could get everything finished that needs to be done in education, they wouldn't need anyone to replace me."

SAVE & SERVE

Low-Cal — Low Cost

Your Guide to Inexpensive Nutrition This Lenten Season

You're right in step with good nutrition when you serve chicken to your family. Chicken is an excellent source of high quality protein. It also provides iron, thiamin, riboflavin, and niacin.

Eating chicken is described as a way to reduce fat consumption and save money at the same time.

The mild flavor of chicken combines well with many ingredients.

The amount of chicken to buy depends basically on the number of persons that are to be served, size of servings, and whether or not you want leftovers.

Whole chickens are usually a better buy than chicken pieces.

You can store chilled, raw chicken for one to two days in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

The maximum length of time frozen chicken maintains quality in the home freezer depends on the quality of the chicken at the time of freezing, the kind of package or container used, and the storage temperature. The suggested maximum storage time is 9 months for a cut-up chicken and 12 months on a whole chicken, this is in a home freezer at 0 degree temperature.

Hens or stewing chickens require slow cooking in a covered pan with water or steam to make them tender.

Mature chickens are generally preferred for rich stews and casserole dishes because they are more flavorful than young chickens; however, broiler or fryer chickens also may be simmered, steamed, or braised for use in creamed dishes, stews, soups, or casseroles.

There are 170 calories in one three ounce serving of chicken.

Try these tested recipes.

"STIR FRY" CHICKEN

1 cup water
 1/2 cup diagonally sliced celery
 1/2 medium green pepper, cut into strips
 2 ounces onion, sliced
 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 2 packets instant chicken broth and seasoning mix
 2 garlic cloves, minced
 Artificial sweetener to equal 4 teaspoons sugar
 1 cup bean sprouts
 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
 1/2 cup sliced bamboo shoots
 2 ounces frozen Chinese pea pods
 2 ounces water chestnuts, sliced
 12 ounces cooked chicken, cut in 2-inch strips
 1/2 cup pineapple chunks, no sugar added
 2 teaspoons cornstarch, dissolved in tablespoon water
 1 cup cooked enriched rice
 In a Chinese wok or large skillet, combine water, celery, green pepper, onion, soy sauce, broth mix, garlic and sweetener. Cook, stirring occasionally, until celery and green pepper are tender-crisp. Add bean sprouts, mushrooms, bamboo shoots, pea pods and water chestnuts. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until mushrooms are tender-crisp. Add chicken and pineapple; heat thoroughly. Stir in cornstarch; bring to a boil. Simmer about 2 minutes or until thickened. Serve over rice. Divide evenly. Makes 2 servings.

CHICKEN-IN-A-BAG

Allow 1/2 lb. chicken per person (do not cup up)
 Fat
 Salt
 Paprika
 1 brown paper bag (large enough to fit chicken loosely, ask for it at your grocery store)
 Piece of string
 Rinse and dry chicken inside and out. Rub 1/2 Tbsp. fat and 1/2 tsp. salt in the inside of chicken. Secure wings by twisting each wing tip under the chicken. Rub small amount fat over entire chicken and salt lightly. Sprinkle 1/2 tsp. paprika over breast.
 Place chicken breast-side up in the bag and close tightly with a piece of string. Place on rack in shallow pan. Bake 1 hour at 425 degrees then reduce heat to 400 degrees for 1 more hour.
 Remove from oven, handle bag gently because it contains drippings for making gravy, if desired. Slit bag and place chicken on platter.
 Do not use the bag if your oven is small. Roast uncovered chicken at 350 degrees F.

CHICKEN CROQUETTES

6 servings, 2 croquettes each
 2 cups chicken, cooked, diced
 1 cup (about 1 1/3 cup, uncooked) Rice, cooked
 1/2 cup celery, finely chopped
 2 tablespoons onion, finely chopped
 1 teaspoon flour
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
 1 egg, beaten
 1/4 cup evaporated milk
 3/4 cup breadcrumbs, fine, dry
 2 quarts oil for frying
 1 cup chicken gravy
 1-3 cup nuts, chopped
 Combine chicken, rice, vegetables, flour, and seasonings.
 Add egg and enough milk to moisten. Shape into 12 croquettes.
 Roll in breadcrumbs.
 Heat oil in deep kettle or deep-fat fryer to 375 degrees F.
 Fry croquettes until browned, 2 to 5 minutes.
 Drain on paper.
 Serve hot chicken gravy over croquettes.
 Garnish with nuts.
 Calories per serving: About 360.
 For fewer calories, omit the nuts and garnish with a few sprigs of parsley. About 315 calories per serving.

CHICKEN CARIBBEAN

4 tablespoons rum
 Chicken pieces — suggest breasts
 2 tablespoons lime juice
 Flour
 Margarine
 1 cup tomato sauce
 1 tablespoon brown sugar
 1 small onion, chopped
 Can pineapple chunks, drained.
 Sprinkle chicken with lime juice, dust with flour — brown in margarine. Add tomato sauce, brown sugar, onions. Cover and cook for 40 minutes. Stir in pineapple and rum.

Dear Abby:

Sympathy, Not Tea For Fat Pastor

DEAR ABBY: A GUEST asked you whether a hostess should ask a drop-in guest if he (or she) wants any refreshments or to just go ahead and serve something. You said, "The gracious hostess doesn't inquire—she acts. Serve whatever you have, but drop in guests shouldn't expect a feed-in." I disagree with you, Abby.

I am a pastor's wife, and oh, how I wish well-meaning parishioners would quit feeding my husband! His clothes are bursting at the seams. He is earnestly trying to lose weight, but with all the calls he has to make and people shoving goodies at him constantly, it is almost impossible for him to stay on a diet.

I am not saying he doesn't enjoy eating, because he does. But it would be so much easier for him to refuse if he were asked, instead of served. Please publish this. It might help. But don't use my name or the town from which this came. Thank you.

PASTOR'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: OFTEN A GUEST's letter prompts me to say that I too have often been a guest in the homes of friends who know perfectly well that I am a Mormon. Yet they still say, "Shall I fix some coffee? Or would you rather have tea?"

Abby, please remind those thoughtless people that Mormons drink neither coffee or tea. Thank you.

PROVOKED IN PRVO

Dear ABBY: Apropos OFTEN A GUEST: The guest who gets me is the one who replies, when asked if he wants something: "If YOU are going to have something, I'll join you."

OFTEN ANNOYED

DEAR ABBY: Aha! I caught you. You aren't always right. I think the hostess who serves refreshments without first asking her guest if they want anything is presumptuous and inconsiderate.

It should be the privilege of the guest either to partake of refreshments or refuse. But if something is set before him, he feels compelled to eat it, lest he offend the hostess.

I have avoided calling on a certain relative who is a notoriously poor cook because she insists that her guests eat, regardless of the time of day or night. Her heart may be in the right place, but my stomach can't take it.

BICARB BETSY

DEAR ABBY: People who are so stupid as to refuse a cup of coffee when

Arthritis Volunteer Action Committee

The Pickaway County Arthritis Volunteer Action Committee held their monthly meeting March 10, in St. Philip's Parish Hall.

Mr. Robert Lincoln, executive director for the Central Ohio Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation distributed several new publications on the care, understanding and support of this, America's number one crippling disease. Mr. Lincoln elaborated concerning preventive measures and progress states against this, one of mankind's most common yet most baffling diseases. Special mention concerned the specialized arthritis unit at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, and the April 11 conference session at the Ross County Medical Center.

Mrs. Lawrence Ward and Mrs. Melvin Steck volunteered to help distribute informing material in the Ashville and Williamsport areas.

The next meeting will be April 28 in the library of St. Philip's Parish Hall, 129 West Mound St., Circleville. Any interested person is welcome.

Persons desiring information should contact Mrs. David Dawson, chairman of the local unit.

they really want one deserve to go without.

This business of having to BEG folks to have a cookie or a sandwich is for the birds. Whatever happened to the simple "yes" or "no" when something is offered? I asked once, and whatever answer I get is okay by me. I don't beg anybody to eat or drink anything in my home.

SARAH IN SUN CITY

DEAR ABBY: I don't agree with you.

I am on a limited budget, and I can't afford to prepare refreshments to throw out. I always ask if anybody wants anything first. And I am only too glad to serve whatever I have, IF it is wanted, but it bugs me to watch guests toy with their food and pretend to enjoy it when they really don't.

BUGGED IN BARSTOW

DEAR ABBY: I agree with you. If you have something in the house for company, put it out and let them take it or leave it.

I used to ask people who dropped in if they want a piece of my freshly baked homemade bread, or a slice of my just-out-of-the-oven, green-apple pie. And they would say, "Not right now, but it sounds so good, would you mind wrapping up a little piece for me to take home?"

Now, Abby, you know I'm not going to wrap up ONE piece of bread or one slice of pie for a whole family. So there went a whole loaf of bread and a whole pie!

SHIRLEY

DEAR SHIRLEY: Your mistake was in describing the goodies. You should have just made the offer and skipped the commercials.

J.E. Peters, Inc. Emphasizes Complete Paint Job

THE DEB and Children's Shop is still another business in this area that relied on J. E. Peters, Inc. Having been in the painting business since 1935, experience is foremost at J. E. Peters Inc. But paints have changed several times and new special paints emerge on the market almost every day. There are also new techniques to keep up with in the increasingly more technical field of paint and its application. But you can rely on J. E. Peters Inc. to combine experience with a top knowledge of special paints and technical applications.

You take pride in your business, plant, or home. Why not give your buildings the best painting care you can receive in the Circleville and Pickaway County area?

You can take your next job to J.E. Peters, Inc., specialists in the commercial, industrial and residential painting fields since 1935.

When people think of a painting contractor, they probably think of a truck with a lot of ladders and big paint brushes. But a look at downtown Circleville will show you that J. E. Peters, Inc. paints more than houses. They have refurbished the exteriors of several downtown businesses, including most recently the Children's Shop, the G.C. Murphy building, and the Masonic Temple, immediately south of the Murphy building. The recent "face-lifting" took years off the appearance of the old buildings.

J.E. Peters can do the same for your business. With offices located at 705 E. Mound St., the decorator uses various and up-to-date techniques in industrial, commercial, and home decorating, including brush and roller painting, conventional and airless sprays, hydro-blasting (high pressure water) cleaning, sandblasting, roof rejuvenation, and construction. They are also very knowledgeable in paint engineering, including fire retardant paints which meet and exceed OSHA requirements, technical applications, and corrosion controlling paints including epoxyized coatings. They are experts in color know-how in wallpaper, coverings, vinyls, fashions, foils, and flocks, and of course, complete paint jobs in the commercial, industrial, and residential field.

According to Peters, "technical applications are a part of the painting field which only a qualified contractor should attempt. With the controversy surrounding the use of special chemicals, a contractor must have the proper equipment, take all necessary precautions, and if not sure of the risks involved, get expert advice or leave the job alone."

When "technical applications" are mentioned, some people really don't know what is meant. Take sandblasting for instance.

Sandblasting, or abrasive blast cleaning is a common procedure used in the painting field. Sandblasting cleans surfaces by the action of abrasives propelled by compressed air through a nozzle. This is the first step in preparing steel for the final paint job. The equipment used by J.E. Peters, Inc., has all Occupational Safety and Health Administration approved safety features to protect working personnel with precautions taken to insure safety in the area. You can be sure that any sandblasting done by J.E. Peters, Inc., is handled by trained, experienced operators only.

A job is only as good as the paint that is applied, and there are nearly as many different types of paints as there are colors. Paints have changed continuously over the years, and J.E. Peters, Inc. has stayed right with the changes. You can let the experts determine the right paint for the job, whether it is an office, store, or an entire factory. They have the latest airless spray equipment, along with high pressure washers and air compressors from 20 cubic feet per minute to 365 cubic feet per minute. And all of J.E. Peters, Inc. equipment is highly mobile.

Another specialty at J.E. Peters, Inc., is painting elevated structures. Included in this category are in-part elevated water tanks, inside or out; grain leg elevators; storage bins; multiple story buildings; smoke stacks; towers, and more. Special equipment is needed for such jobs, and J. E. Peters, Inc. uses only the right equipment and their most experienced high men available.

J.E. Peters, Inc. is also qualified to do parking lot striping and road painting for traffic flow.

Let J.E. Peters, Inc. consult and give you quotations on any painting needs you may have. They will be happy to engineer your complete painting program for your home, office, store, or entire factory.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Auto workers struck a General Motors Corp. foundry in Illinois Monday over a contract dispute, while workers at a Detroit Chrysler Corp. plant went back to their jobs after a brief walkout.

Some 2,100 members of United Auto Workers Local 579 struck GM's central foundry in Danville, Ill., after negotiators failed to reach a local agreement before the 11 a.m. strike deadline.

A GM spokesman said negotiations would resume Tuesday.

Bargainers for the UAW and Chrysler reached a local agreement two minutes before the 10 a.m. strike deadline Monday at the Lynch Road assembly plant. But the agreement was too late for members of UAW Local 51, who walked off the job. But operations resumed with Monday's afternoon shift. The plant assembles Plymouth Furies and Dodge Monacos and employs 4,100 workers.

Meanwhile, a 10-day-old strike by 8,200 members of UAW Local 933 continued at five of GM's Diesel-Allison division plants in the Indianapolis area.

Also, 1,250 members of UAW Local 1045 remained off the job in a strike which began last Friday at GM's Fisher Body plant in the Cleveland suburb of Euclid, Ohio.

All of the strikes involve disputes over non-economic issues not covered by master national agreements forged by the union and industry last fall.

JUST TWO examples of J. E. Peters, Inc. and the complete job that they do can be seen at the G. C. Murphy building and the Masonic Temple directly south of the Murphy building. J. E. Peters Inc. recently completed complete "facelifts" of both buildings, including the gilding of the Masonic Emblem high atop the Temple. Gilding is an art that is not too common, but it typifies the thoroughness of J. E. Peters, Inc.'s work on every job. Other area businesses, and factories have relied on J.E. Peters Inc. for their painting needs. Ask them to handle your complete painting program.

TV Takes On Tall Heath In District

Wednesday's district opener at Hilliard High School will pit the quick and aggressive Teays Valley Vikings against a tall, control team from Heath.

Teays Valley gained a shot in the 7 p.m. contest by beating Circleville 42-41 and polishing off West Jefferson 59-33 in the Pickerington sectional of the Class AA tournament that will lead to an eventual state champion.

The Bulldogs topped teams from Northridge and Bloom-Carroll before dropping Granville 43-28 in the finals of the Bloom-Carroll sectional.

The Vikes of Coach Angie Rinehart have lost but two games in rolling to their third straight Metro League title.

Heath, coached by Rebecca Bell, played to an 11-7 record and a second place finish in the Licking County League.

Teays Valley will be led by Deb Baxter, a 5-4 guard who is the leading scorer. Rita Slone will play the other guard spot, 5-7 Perri Martin and 5-8 Suzy Jones will be the forwards, and 5-8 Florie Mesner will play center.

But the Vikes can also count on the play of 5-7 Shelley Marion, 5-10 Pat Maciejewski, 5-8 P.J. Stiles, and 5-7 Willie Reichelderfer.

The tall Bulldogs are led by Brenda Hoskins, a 5-5 guard who is their leading scorer. Sandy Evans will open at the other guard.

Rebounding is the key to the Heath attack, which features 5-10 Cindy

Maxwell at center, and 5-10 Kim Sullivan and 5-9 Gayle Bickle at the forward posts.

Rebounding has also been the key to the TV attack this year. The Vikes will rely on a 3-2 zone defense that positions four players under the basket to scrap for the errant shots.

The Bulldogs play from a 2-3 set zone, according to Coach Rinehart, who played for Heath during her high school career. They are a good-passing team who rely on ball control to set-up high percentage shots.

The winner of the contest will play in the 3 p.m. District finals Saturday against the winner of the Utica - River Valley contest.

Tickets for Wednesday's game will be on sale at Teays Valley until Wednesday afternoon.

Fans wishing to attend the game have a choice of two routes to Hilliard, according to Tournament Director Norm McElheny.

He suggests a route that includes taking Route 23 to I-270 West to I-70 West. Turn right on the Rome-Hilliard Road (the first road past the I-270, I-70 interchange), and drive until you come to the first stop light. A left turn will take you to the Hilliard High School complex.

Or, you can remain on I-270 until you come to the Roberts Road exit. Then drive to the Rome-Hilliard Road and turn right until you come to the high school buildings.

Local Cagers Strengthen Ohio Wesleyan Bishops

GEORGE MOORE

MIKE MCCOY

Circleville's George Moore and Mike McCoy have finished their freshman basketball season at Ohio Wesleyan with the knowledge that they were a big part of something new — winning basketball at a school that had suffered through 11 consecutive losing seasons. The Bishops' record this year was 12-12, the first non-losing campaign since the glory days of Barry Clemens in 1964-65.

And Moore was the stimulus that turned a losing season around. The Bishops had a 4-9 record when Coach Frank Shannon decided to insert the freshman into the starting lineup to bolster the defense and rebounding. But Moore also decided to bolster the offense as well, and the Bishops ran off eight victories in their final 11 games.

"George really helped turn things around for us," said Shannon. "He was the stabilizing influence we needed. On defense, he was always stopping the other team's best forward, and he played team defense just the way a coach likes to see it played. On offense, he did more than we could have asked."

Moore's best offensive performance was in the Bishops' biggest victory of the season — probably the decade — against the regular season Ohio Conference Southern Division champs Wittenberg. The '76 Circleville High School graduate scored 26 points, including a fade-away 15-foot jumper with four seconds left in the second overtime, to lead the Bishops to a 77-75 victory and into the finals of the Southern Division tournament — which they lost to Muskingum badly 90-61 because, as many felt, they were emotionally drained from the big win the night before.

Another '76 Circleville graduate Mike McCoy, paced the Bishops in that final game with 13 points. McCoy saw action in 19 of the Bishops' 24 varsity games, usually in the tense final moments of close games where his accurate free-throw shooting became a valuable asset. McCoy was 34 of 41 from the free throw line on the year for a team-best percentage of 82.9.

Moore is the son of Frank and Faye Moore, 670 E. Ohio St., and McCoy is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. H. McCoy 382 Meadow Lane.

Montreal Canadiens Blank Kings, 3-0

MONTREAL (AP) — It has not been an easy season for opponents of the Montreal Canadiens as the defending National Hockey League champions roll to the best over-all record in the league.

The Canadiens need just one point to clinch the over-all title which will give them home-ice advantage in all of their Stanley Cup playoff games following Monday night's 3-0 triumph over the Los Angeles Kings.

It was the only game played Monday night in the NHL. The world Hockey Association was dark.

Northwest Ohio Cage Stars

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Dick Crowell of Toledo Bowsher and Defiance guard Jay Lehman are the winners of the major Class AAA awards this year in The Associated Press' Ohio Northwestern District high school basketball selections.

Crowell, whose seniors were 1-17 as jayvees, led Bowsher to a 15-5 record and its first Toledo divisional title in history. He earned the Northwestern District Class AAA Coach of the Year laurels.

Lehman, a 6-foot senior, averaged 24.1 points per game to go with his excellent ball handling and defense to earn area AAA Player of the Year honors.

The selections were made by a district panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Ron Niekamp, who led Ottawa-Glandorf to an 18-2 mark, its first winning record in 11 seasons, was voted the Northwestern Class AA Coach of the Year title.

The area AA Players of the Year were Ken Pothast of Ottawa-Glandorf, a 6-1 guard who scored 1,186 career points and averaged 24.3 points this winter, and 6-3 Port Clinton guard Lee Horne, who hit more than 26 points a game the last two seasons.

Dennis Wright, who turned out an 18-2 production in his first Hamler Henry season, was the Northwestern Class A Coach of the Year.

The board also picked two Class A

District Players of the Year, 6-4 Joe Faine of Rawson Cory-Rawson and 6-5 Jim Hoops of Hamler Henry. Faine shot 51 per cent and averaged 30.3 points, the second straight year he's been above 30. Hoops carried a 22-point average and was an outstanding ball handler and rebounder, too.

Tribe Bombs Padres, 12-6

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, who were supposed to be hitless wonders this season, discovered they had some muscle here Monday as they bashed out 22 hits in defeating the San Diego Padres 12-6 in an exhibition baseball game.

"I'm not saying we're going to get this kind of production all year," said manager Frank Robinson after the contest. "But there's no reason we can't continue to be a very good hitting team, because we've got guys who know how to make contact with the ball."

Cleveland's Johnny Grubb, a former Padre, Boog Powell and Buddy Bell each drilled homers as the Indians won their fourth exhibition game against one loss.

So far the Indians have banded out 43 runs and 74 hits in the Cactus League. "To me this points out the type of people we have on this team this year," Robinson added.

Before the game started, the Indians were given a fright when ace-pitcher Wayne Garland had to be scratched because of a sore shoulder. But doctors say he only needs to rest for two days. Garland is expected to play here Thursday against the Milwaukee Brewers.

Can-Am Returns To Mid-Ohio

The $75,000 Valvoline CanAm on August 6-7 headlines the Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course's 1977 road racing season, Mid-Ohio President-General Manger Les Griebing announced today.

"The Sports Car Club of America's biggest series, the CanAm, has never looked more promising," Griebing said, concluding almost five months of negotiations which broke down two weeks ago with the cancellation of Mid-Ohio's event. "For the first time, the CanAm has some direction and we're already planning for 1979 instead of working from year to year."

Griebing credited the salvation of the prestigious international series to the SCCA's election of Bill Johnson of Kansas City, Mo., as its Board of Governors chairman, which led to Mid-Ohio's acceptance of an event.

"Bill realized Mid-Ohio's participation was vital to the success of the series and through his outstanding business-like approach to the problems, has taken over the reins of the SCCA and broken down the barriers between the SCCA and Mid-Ohio. He realized what all I had proposed was the correct way to go and worked quite hard to attain that plan," Griebing said.

The major outcome of the negotiations is the appointment of a CanAm Advisory Committee which will report to Johnson. Committee members are Griebing and Malcolm Currie of Watkins Glen representing the series promoters, entrants Carl Haas and Doug Schulz, and an official to be selected by the SCCA.

"Besides having the power to make changes in the series to improve its competitiveness, safety and promotability, the committee will be looking ahead towards 1979 and working on rules for cars which will be more appealing to the fans, safer and less expensive," Griebing added.

The CanAm series, sponsored in 1977 by Citicorp Services Inc., "lived" from 1966 thru 1974, but was revitalized and reshaped for 1977 after lack of promoter interest in the Formula 5000 series. Cars now competing will not only be the former CanAm cars — now re-fitted with 305 c.i. engines — but full-bodied F-5000 cars and other sports cars. Mid-Ohio's race will be for 200 miles on the twisting 2.4-mile road racing circuit, with two mandatory refueling stops for the more powerful cars.

Robinson 'Old Man' As Manager

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Frank Robinson, who two years ago was the most heavily publicized rookie manager in baseball history, now ranks third in seniority among American League managers.

"Don't remind me," he said at the Cleveland Indians' spring training camp. "In this job, you sleep with one eye open and with your bags packed."

Baltimore's Earl Weaver and Detroit's Ralph Houk are the only managers in the league who have been in their current jobs longer than Robinson, major league baseball's first and only black manager. In the National League, only Sparky Anderson of Cincinnati, John McNamara of San Diego and Danny Ozark of Philadelphia have seniority over the Indians' head man.

"The aggravation involved keeps a lot of men out of managing who might otherwise be interested in it," Robinson concluded as he prepared for his third season. "You have to live with the thankfulness of the job — the players getting the headlines when you're winning, the blame falling on the manager when you're losing."

The Indians became a winner last year for the first time since 1968 with an 81-78 record. But they never were in contention for the lead and finished fourth, 16 games behind the New York Yankees, who ran away from the rest of the Eastern Division teams.

"I think we turned the corner last season," said Robinson.

Circleville Sets Wrestling Banquet

The Circleville Athletic Booster Club announces that the winter banquet honoring the wrestlers will be held 6:30 p.m. Monday in the high school cafeteria.

It will be a "Carryin" dinner and everyone is asked to bring two covered dishes and their own tableservice. The Booster Club will furnish rolls, butter, and drinks.

Mr. Robert Johnson, president of the Circleville school board, will serve as Master of Ceremonies and Mr. Richard Obermeyer will give the Invocation and Benediction.

An extra added attraction at the banquet honoring Junior High and High School wrestlers will be an address by Mr. Chris Ford who is the wrestling coach at Ohio State University.

The 1976 American League champion Yankees failed to hit one pinch home run. But their pinch hitters batted .297 with 30 hits in 101 chances. They drove in 20 runs.

Dons Skid Toward Bottom Of Cage Ratings

By DAVE KAYE
AP Sports Writer
Fame is fleeting.

Two weeks ago, the University of San Francisco was coasting along with a 29-0 record. Then along came Notre Dame and the Irish ended the Dons' skid, beating them 93-82. The loss dropped San Francisco from No. 1 in The Associated Press Top Twenty to No. 3 after the Dons had held the top position most of the season.

Last week, San Francisco went up against the Runnin' Rebels of Nevada-Las Vegas and lost again, 121-95, in the opening round of the NCAA tournament, and plummeted to eighth in the final poll of the season.

Michigan, 25-3, finished No. 1 with 893 points, garnering 28 first-place votes in national balloting by a panel of 49 sportswriters and broadcasters. The Wolverines beat Holy Cross 92-81 in the first round of the NCAA tournament after edging Marquette 69-68 in their regular-season finale.

UCLA, 24-4, beat Louisville 87-79 in the NCAA tourney and held its No. 2 ranking with 836 points, receiving eight first-place votes. Kentucky, 25-3, was one of the big climbers in this week's poll, vaulting from sixth to No. 3 with 775 points and seven first-place votes after routing Princeton 72-58.

Nevada-Las Vegas, 26-2, beat San Francisco and rose one place from fourth with 743 points and five No. 1 votes. North Carolina's Tar Heels, 25-4, beat Purdue 69-66 but fell from fourth to No. 5 with 638 points and one first-place vote.

Syracuse's Orangemen, 26-3, upset Tennessee 93-88 in overtime in the NCAA and leaped from 10th to No. 6.

Marquette, 21-7, in addition to losing to Michigan, beat Cincinnati 66-61 in the NCAA and jumped from 16th to seventh.

After San Francisco, 29-2, came Wake Forest, 23-6. The Deacons, unranked a week ago, defeated Arkansas 86-80 in the national tourney and leaped to No. 9. Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, 21-6, beat Hofstra 90-83 in the NCAA and moved from 15th to 10th, rounding out the top 10.

Alabama, 25-4, beat Memphis State 80-63 in the first round of the National Invitational Tournament and climbed one spot to 11th. Detroit, 25-3, beat Middle Tennessee 93-76 in an NCAA opening-round game and vaulted from 17th to 12th. Minnesota, 22-3, did not play, and remained 13th.

Utah, 22-6, beat St. John's, N.Y., 72-

68 in an NCAA game and rose from 19th to 14th. Tennessee, 20-9, finished 15th after losing to Syracuse.

Kansas State, 23-7, defeated Providence 87-80 in the NCAA tourney and wound up 16th in the poll. North Carolina-Charlotte, 24-3, beat Central Michigan 91-86 in overtime in another NCAA game and moved from 18th to 17th.

Arkansas, 26-2 and No. 8 a week ago, plunged to 18th after losing to Wake Forest. Louisville, 21-7, lost to UCLA and fell from 14th to 19th.

Rounding out the Top 20 was VMI, 26-3. The Keydets, who were unranked a week ago, beat Duquesne 73-66 in an NCAA contest.

Cincinnati, 25-5, Providence, 24-5, and Arizona, 21-6, all lost in the NCAA tournament and fell out of the final poll.

Blue Jays Trip Expos, 3-2

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Toronto beat Montreal 3-2 Monday ... but the sport was baseball, not hockey.

"It seems like we won the Stanley Cup, doesn't it?" asked Lloyd Allen in the jubilant Toronto lockerroom after the Blue Jays edged the Expos in the first meeting between Canada's two major league baseball teams. "We gave it just that little extra bit today."

The expansion Blue Jays are in the American League and the Expos are in the National, so the two clubs will not meet in regular season play. That added extra excitement to Monday's exhibition matchup.

The Expos twice took one-run leads on unearned runs, but Toronto came back and tied the score in the second and seventh innings, then pushed across the winning run in the eighth.

Steve Staggs beat out a bunt to open the eighth. The Blue Jays got runners on first and second when Montreal relief pitcher Will McEnaney fielded Jim Mason's bunt and threw to second too late to get Staggs.

John Scott grounded to third baseman Pete Mackanin, who tagged Staggs and threw to first for a double play. But veteran Ron Fairly, a former Expos player, slapped a single to center, driving in Mason with the winning run.

Allen blanked the Expos on two hits over the last three innings in gaining the victory. He struck out four.

In other games:

The Seattle Mariners, the other American League expansion team, whipped the Chicago Cubs 10-5 as Dave Collins, Rupert Jones and Lee Stanton homered, keying a nine-run first inning.

Jerry Reuss and five relievers limited Philadelphia to one hit in pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 11-0 victory over the Phils. Al Oliver, Willie Stargell, Omar Moreno and Dave Parker homered for the Pirates.

Home runs by Johnny Grubb, Boog Powell and Buddy Bel highlighted a 22-hit attack as the Cleveland Indians whipped the San Diego Padres 12-6.

The Cincinnati Reds blanked the Kansas City Royals 5-0 behind first-inning homers by Dave Concepcion and Dan Driessen. After the game, the Reds announced that Concepcion had signed a five-year contract, two years longer than any contract ever given out by the team.

Rookie Dennis Sherrill singled home the winning run in the 11th inning as the New York Yankees edged the Texas Rangers 4-3.

Dave Kingman's first-inning homer started the New York Mets to a 5-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Jim Rice, George Scott and Butch Hobson homered, carrying the Boston Red Sox to an 8-7 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Sixto Lezcano singled home one run and scored the other in the Milwaukee Brewers' 2-0 decision over the Oakland A's as Bill Travers, Bryan Haas and Ken Sanders combined for a nine-hit shutout.

Dave Chalk's three hits led the California Angels past the San Francisco Giants 3-2.

Bob Forsch, Lerrin LaGrow, Ike Sutton and Tom Walker combined on a seven-hit shutout as the Detroit Tigers stopped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0.

Larry Hise singled and doubled, driving in three runs and leading the Minnesota Twins to an 8-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Milwaukee Bucks Stop Lakers, 110-106

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The surveillance that annoys Kareem Abdul-Jabbar off the court took on another shape Monday night as the pesky Milwaukee Bucks shadowed the Los Angeles Lakers' star.

With center Swen Nater outrebounding Abdul-Jabbar 13-11, the Bucks hounded the Lakers into missed opportunities and emerged with a 110-106 National Basketball Association victory.

"Tonight we just had trouble, period," Abdul-Jabbar said, denying he was being distracted by the security forces assigned to guard him.

"It's more of a bother than something to worry about," he said. "It is something the league requested for a couple of days. I didn't ask for it, and the Lakers didn't ask for it. It's not something I think about."

The St. Louis Cardinals will play 24 exhibition games this spring, including 15 at rebuilt Al Lang Field in St. Petersburg, Fla.

New York Met pitchers led the National League in complete games last season with 53. Next best figure was 47 by San Diego and Los Angeles hurlers.

Concepcion Signs 5-Year Contract

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Dave Concepcion, perhaps the most complete baseball player produced in South America since Luis Aparicio, agreed Monday to the longest contract awarded in Cincinnati Reds history, a five-year package extending through 1981.

The 28-year-old Venezuelan received an estimated $1 million to keep the heart of the World Champions defense intact.

The unprecedented contract bettered by two years the previous best

MAC Academic Cage Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Goodyear of Miami has been selected to the Mid-American Conference all-academic basketball squad for the third straight season.

Joining the 6-foot-5 senior from Columbus, Ohio, on the 1977 first team were Toledo's Dave Speicher, the only other repeater; Dan Hipsher of Bowling Green, Steve Skaggs of Ohio University and Jeff Seemann of Toledo.

The conference's faculty representatives select the team. A player must have at least a B scholastic average and be a letterman to qualify for the squad.

Rewards Offered For Large Crimes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State of Ohio will offer cash rewards for key information about unsolved major crimes, Gov. James A. Rhodes said Monday.

Rewards as high as $10,000 will be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of criminals involved in such crimes as murders, rapes and robberies.

A pilot project of the new program is being started immediately in Cuyahoga County with $500,000, Rhodes said.

The program will be funded through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration program.

Dr. Robert W. Brown, former Yankee third baseman, is a director with the Texas Rangers.

Cougars Turn Back Illinois State In NIT

NEW YORK (AP) — It was the right time, the right place and the right player for the Houston Cougars.

"With about 12 seconds to go, I turned to my assistant coach and told him Otis Birdsong would win it for us," said Houston Coach Guy Lewis, talking about Otis Birdsong, the Cougars' shooting star who averages 30 points per game.

Lewis did not have to wait long to see his prophecy come true. Six seconds later, Birdsong stole a pass, raced downcourt and put in a jump shot, giving the Cougars a 91-90 overtime victory over Illinois State in the quarter-finals of the National Invitation Tournament Monday night.

The victory advanced Houston to Thursday night's semifinals against Alabama, which earlier Monday beat Virginia Tech 79-72. The remaining semifinalists will be decided tonight when Villanova meets Massachusetts and Oregon plays St. Bonaventure.

Before Birdsong scored the winning basket, Illinois State had made it a breath-taking contest in the second half. Trailing by 14 points at intermission, the Redbirds rallied behind brawny Jeff Wilkins and finally caught up with Houston on Ron Jones' two free throws with one second left in regulation time.

That tied the score 81-81 and set up a pulsating overtime period during which the teams never were more than four points apart. Joe Galvin's field goal with 15 seconds left provided Illinois State with a 90-89 edge before Birdsong scored his game-winner. His 30 points matched his season's average.

Birdsong was not the only Houston hero. Cecil Rose scored 26 points for the Cougars, including eight of their 10 in overtime.

Wilkins wound up with 28 points for the Redbirds before fouling out with three minutes left in regulation time.

The Alabama-Virginia Tech game was almost as exciting. The Crimson Tide, which had beaten the Gobblers by 30 points earlier in the season, had a more difficult time putting them away this time. In fact, Alabama trailed by 10 points at one juncture and was losing 45-40 at intermission.

But then Reggie King triggered a 17-3 burst midway through the second half, starting the Crimson Tide to victory.

Tom Egan, former major league catcher, is the new manager of the Wausau, Wis., baseball team in the Class A Midwest League.

Lee Mazzilli, Don Bosch and Ken Singleton are the only New York Mets ever to hit home runs left-handed and right-handed.

SPEAKMAN REALTY

A BETTER BUY

Sure mortgage interest rates are higher than they were, but so are the market values of homes and land. Please believe me when I say that even at today's inflated prices and interest rates, real estate is a better buy than anything else you can go after with borrowed dollars.
Financing for other purchases often costs twice as much — and these things depreciate while a house usually grows in value. Check the trade-in value of your car when you turn it in for a new one. Also for the past ten years, real estate values have doubled the increase in the Dow Jones average.
In this sense, real estate is the most worth-while investment you can make, and your best protection against inflation. And don't forget the priceless dividends your family will enjoy as you live in your growing investment.

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some will be pleased, some won't with your decisions, plans. Be sure to consider the opinions of all before acting.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Admonitions for this day: Do not be capricious in likes or dislikes, whether personal or business. It will lead to discontent, uncertainty — in general, poor performance.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Do not turn from the conventional: It will take a lot of doing to get things back in order. Acting wisely, a new peak in personal prestige is possible.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A day calling for careful discrimination. Don't waste time on nonessentials while you neglect more vital matters. You may get some good ideas from others now.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may find it easier to do things yourself instead of depending on others who do not wish to cooperate. In any event, do not force issues.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): While some changes are taking place, your general situation is governed by beneficent stars. Begin helpful discussions, and stick with any trying matters which may still need care.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If you attempt to gain your way through unconventional methods, it could cause discord. Emphasize reason, logic, harmony.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Your outlook and approach tremendously important now. Day can be one of highly useful performance if you concentrate on immediate needs and forget past disappointments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Admonitions for this day: Avoid haste in all things, especially in making decisions. Look closely at all situations. There may be values not seen at a cursory glance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Step up activities to meet competition that is working overtime. The extra try will be worth the effort.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Streamline wherever it will accelerate progress, but don't pass those "little" details which can be so important. An average day, awaiting YOUR clever management.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Salute your day with the will to do your best even if all circumstances are not to your liking. You may profit more by working with others than on your own.

YOU BORN TODAY have a multitude of talents with which to build a rich, rewarding life. Intellectually inclined, you would make an outstanding writer, educator or scientist. Politics may appeal to you and, if so, you could become a leader in the fields of statesmanship or diplomacy. You are a true humanitarian, filled with compassion for the helpless and the underprivileged; would shine as a leader in any institution devoted to the care of the young, the aged or the sick. In your personal life, this sympathy for others could let you be "taken in," if not careful. Try to discriminate between real need and exploitation of your charitable impulses. Birthdate of: James Madison, 4th Pres., U.S.A.; Jerry Lewis, comedian.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If you regularly watch CBS' "M-A-S-H," you know Maj. Frank Burns, a married doctor, has had an affair of almost five seasons with Maj. Margaret "Hot Lips" Hoolihan, an unmarried nurse.

But Frank goes into mourning tonight. Having called a cease-fire to his woo, Hot Lips is temporarily stopping the Korean War to get married to her beloved, the never-seen-before Lt. Col. Donald Penobscott.

"It's just the beginning of things, not the ending," says Loretta Swit, who as Hot Lips is causing Burns (Larry Linville) so much grief by plighting her troth to Penobscott (Beeson Carroll).

Miss Swit, a lady with a robust, hearty laugh, says she'll soldier on next season with "M-A-S-H" but doesn't know yet if her beloved, an Army regular, will regularly check in with her unit.

The actress, a Passaic, N.J., native who began working in films and television here in 1969 after stage work on Broadway and other points, was asked why her impending TV marriage.

She said it was discussed last year, when she was doing a Broadway play. Gene Reynolds, executive producer of "M-A-S-H," called and suggested Hot Lips and Maj. Burns end their fling and she get engaged.

"At that point, Gene was thinking perhaps marriage was a bit too final, and I said" — and her voice rose — "Gene, you can't be serious."

"So, they (the writers) decided that Margaret should take the plunge. I don't think it, the idea, was based on anything except growth, that the characters in 'M-A-S-H' should continue to grow and develop."

"And this seemed the way she (Hot Lips) was headed after going through all this hanky-panky with nothing but praises from Frank and broken cookies in packages from his wife."

Miss Swit was asked whether the lengthy affair caused her to get viewer mail that said, well, shame, shame on you.

"Well, no," she laughed. "I'm convinced it's because the affair was never painted as a picture of serenity, never as the way to go. It was always painted as foolish. In a way, it became a very moral thing."

"It showed there was nothing to gain with this relationship."

TV's bride-to-be was asked if she's going steady with anyone off-camera.

"Let me just say that Margaret's life and mine are totally in a line at this moment," she cautiously replied. She went on to say a real marriage is afoot, but declined to say when or reveal the name of her beau.

Day Care Training Program Funded

Pauline Rose, director of the Pickaway County Welfare Department, announced Monday that a Child Day Care Services Training program has been approved under title XX of the Social Security Act.
The county social service unit will receive a grant of $22,312 for fiscal 1977 to implement the program.
The unit plans to have the child care training classes in session by early summer. ADC mothers, WIN required individuals and other low income persons may be enrolled. Eligibility for Title XX is the only criteria. Anyone interested should contact Marsha Dumm of the Pickaway County Welfare Department. She and Martha Seiple submitted the application for the funds.

The funds will be used to remodel the basement of the welfare building as a training center, to operate the program, acquire a library of resource materials for the program and train providers in the field of developmental day care.

Deputy Charges Men With Drug Offenses

A Columbus man, one of four people arrested after a quantity of bulk drugs was found in their car, is being treated in University Hospital, Columbus, for a possible drug-induced overdose.
Robert T. Aldenderfer, 18, Columbus, is in serious condition, accoding to Deputy Sheriff Jim Deal.
Aldenderfer became semi-conscious while undergoing questioning at the Pickaway County Jail about 9:30 a.m. Monday. He was treated at the jail by the Circleville Emergency Medical Team, and later received treatment at Berger Hospital.
Charges of aggravated trafficking have been lodged against his three companions - Jerry A. Stone, 19, Columbus; Artis L. Everman, 19, Columbus; and Joseph E. Murcier, 19, Columbus.
Deputy Deal and members of the CEMT removed a large capsule from Everman's ear, according to the report.

Eight to 10 bottles of type 4 narcotic pills were found in their car, the Deputy said. The bulk drugs were apparently obtained from a drug store or a doctor's office.
Deputy Deal arrested the men 8:15 a.m. Monday while he was investigating a minor traffic accident at the intersection of Scioto St. and Belshazer St. in Commercial Point.
According to the report, he spotted several bottles of the bulk drugs in the car while talking with the four men. Detective Don Thompson and Deputy Danny Dewey assisted with the search of the men and their car.
In addition to the drugs, the deputies found about a dozen new water pipes, which are apparently used for smoking marijuana.

Local Bankers Attend Funds Transfer Seminar

Steven Smalley, William Bennett and Robert Downey of the BancOhio-Second National Bank of Circleville attended a marketing seminar on "SurePay", the new automatic funds transfer system, held recently at the Sheraton Columbus Hotel.
The seminar sponsored by Columbus Regional Automated Funds Transfer System (CRAFTS) was attended by representatives of commercial banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions from the 27-county CRAFTS area.
Nationally known speakers, who have been innovative in marketing bank services, addressed the seminar on how to present the advantages of "SurePay" to bank customers.
"SurePay" is the CRAFTS name for automatic funds transfer service. It's purpose is to slow the rapidly growing use of paper checks which threaten to overwhelm banks with paperwork. This year Americans will write 30 billion checks with the volume growing to 45 billion by 1980. Prime areas of concentration are direct deposit of workers pay directly into personal financial institution account and automatic payment of regularly received bills.
CRAFTS members include savings and loan associations, credit unions and 122 banks in the 27-county area.
